Head Teacher to Home – 8th July
What has happened in school this week?

Welcome to our weekly newsletter.
I can't believe that we only have 2 more of these newsletters before the end of the school year.

This week has been, as always, a packed one with lots of learning opportunities and fun.
The children got to meet their teacher for next year and as I walked around school that day it was fantastic to see everyone with smiles enjoying their time together.

Over the next 2 weeks we have numerous events happening with sports days, end of year trips, reports to parents and of course our Year 6's last day at Lillington.

This week, Drew class tested out how well they could follow a set of instructions by making an edible Roman road. Although at first they were unsure if a road could taste nice, they ended up gobbling up the whole lot!

This week in Angelou, the children have been researching, evaluating and creating artwork in the style of the Inuit - Arctic's indigenous people. They used both watercolours and pastels to explore colour combinations, contrast and texture with exceptional skill and effect. Truly amazing!

King Class have been completing some research into the Indigenous people of the Arctic region. They had to use a range of sources to find information about their lifestyles. Once they had done the research, they had to create a presentation to share their information. Here are some of the first slides.

Important Information

As of September the school day at Lillington will be changing times. The government has recently released an education white paper in which it states that all schools are to ensure that the school week is 32.5 hours in length. At Lillington we are pretty much at this length however to ensure we are definitely covering those hours I will be asking that all year groups have the same start and finish time.

So the school day will start at 8.45am and end at 3.15pm, these are the times that children will be expected to be in class ready for registration and will be coming out of class at the end of the day. In order to give children enough time to get around to their classes for 8.45am the gates on both the KS1 and KS2 playground will open at 8.35am.

Timings for Nursery and Maple are not affected by these changes.
