Head Teacher to Home – 17th March What has happened in school this week?

Welcome to this week's newsletter.

Assembly was a sea of red this morning as children and staff took part in Red Nose Day 2023. Everyone was encouraged to wear non-school uniform including something red. Hopefully we raised a good amount to help people in the UK and around the world. Mrs Pickard will be busy counting the money next week so look out for the grand total in next week's newsletter.

Have a look below at what the children have been doing this week.

Our assemblies this week have focussed on charity – particularly Red Nose Day. One of the main principles of Red Nose Day is for people to come together to make people smile and make some money. We emphasised how the money raised goes towards helping people get through some of the toughest times of their lives. Through watching Newsround, children are aware of some of the struggles that are going on in the world so they know how important fundraising can be.

On Thursday, Drew Class (y3) went to St Mary Magdalene's church for a Looking at Lillington learning session. The children took part in a range of activities led by volunteers at the church. The children represented the school amazingly and we had an email from the volunteers praising the children's positive attitudes and excellent behaviour. Well done Drew Class. It's great to receive positive feedback from the local community.

Enjoy your weekend and see you all on Monday.

Reception have had another busy week. They have enjoyed learning about measurement in maths. They have been measuring how long or tall objects are with cubes, ordering worms according to their length and then have been using clocks to learn about measuring time. They loved playing What's the Time Mr Wolf! Some of the children have been doing their own calculations too.

Darwin are enjoying learning how to programme using a beebot. So far the children have learnt what each of the buttons are, how to verbally give directions to each other and this week focused on programming forwards and backwards on the beebot.

This week in art and computing, the children in Angelou have been using Kleki (a multi-platform web app for painting, drawing, sketching and editing) to add line and tone to a range of images and photographs. They confidently explored a wide range of tools within the software to create impressive, aesthetic effects.

King Class have started a series of lessons on narrative. They've been telling stories orally - made up from different characters, setting and special events - and learning our new class text - Alien Landing. They've enjoyed acting out the story and doing a range of drama activities to understand the text in more depth.
