

Head Teacher to Home - 7 July What has happened in school this week?

Dear Parents and Carers,

What a joyous start to July - our month for demonstrating the value of Kindness!

Our Year 6 have been presented with their leaver's hoodies; they may wear these to school until the end of term!

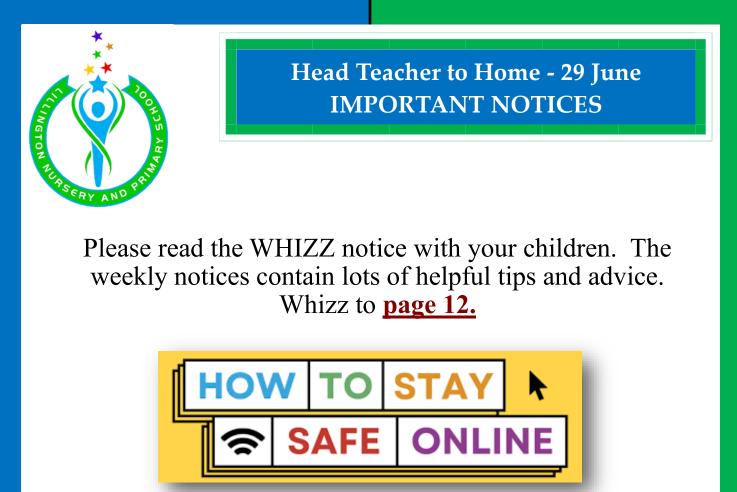

Out transition day takes place on Monday and children in all year groups will enjoy time in their new year group classroom.

On Thursday 13 July at 2.45pm all parents and carers are warmly invited into school from Reception to Y6. We will celebrate all the wonderful learning that has been enjoyed at Lillington through the course of this year.

Our event for Nursery celebrations will be a stay and play session on Tuesday 18th July at 10.15am for our morning children and 2.15pm for our afternoon children.

Have a lovely weekend.

Head Teacher to Home - 7 July What has happened in Peake this week?

Peake have been learning all about the importance of clear instructions in their English lesson. Much fun was had when it came assembling jam sandwiches!

Head Teacher to Home - 7 July Drew & Hopper this week!

Year 3 & 4 enjoyed a walk to The Holt as part of National Fieldwork Fortnight. We had to investigate the location and usage of a local playground or play area. When we got back to school, we asked ourselves some questions. Could the area be improved? What would you like to see added here? Why are playgrounds important for a community? Should there be more playgrounds? If so, where could they be located in the area? We then designed a playground for your local area. We had to think about where to site it, considering access, location, and activities. Use a local map to choose the best site for it.

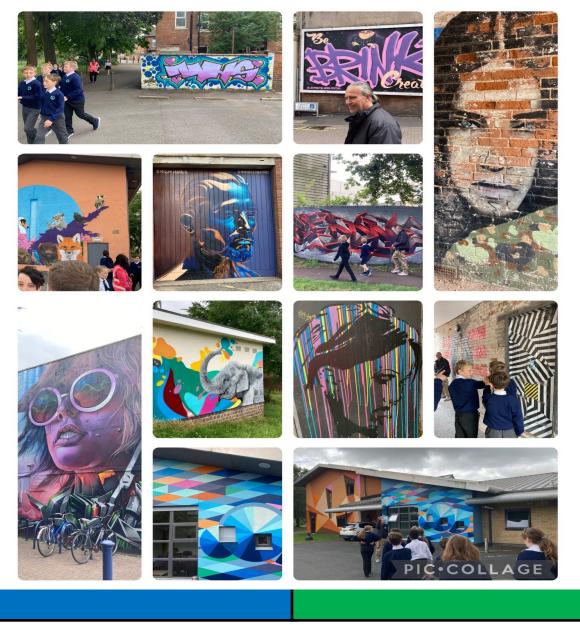

Head Teacher to Home - 7 July What has happened in Pankhurst this week?

Pankhurst have been working incredibly hard writing, editing and publishing their final narrative of the year. They have produced some incredible pieces of writing, which we have been sharing in the sunshine this afternoon.

Head Teacher to Home - 7 July What has happened in Angelou this week?

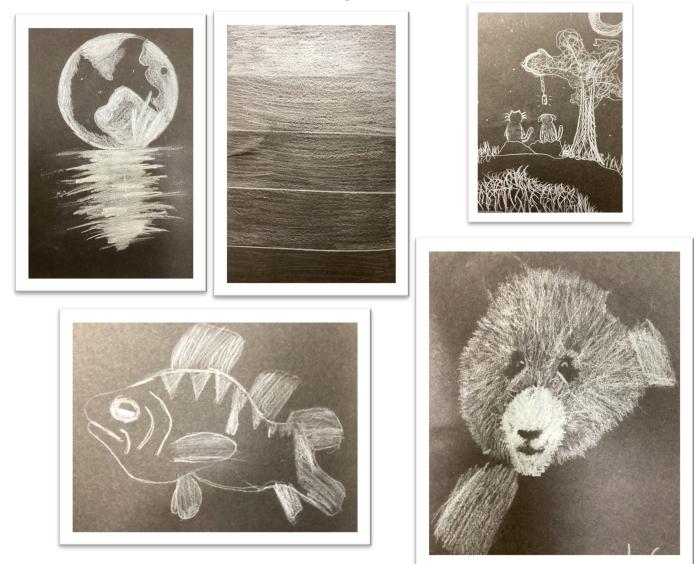

This week in Angelou, the children launched their Graffiti project by participating in an art tour around Leamington. The tour leader - Tim (aka 'Lord Numb') – showed, and explained the backstories of, a range of street art and the children were genuinely inspired by what they saw and heard.

Head Teacher to Home - 7 July What has happened in King this week?

In King Class this week the children have been drawing on black paper. After watching a video of someone drawing on black paper, the children discussed how the artist created different lines and showed areas of light. They then practised creating different blocks of white on a sheet before doing their own drawings.

Head Teacher to Home - 7 July What has happened in Forest School this week?

Forest school have finally got their swing. Much fun was had. And then the children have experimented with some leaf printing on to clay. They will be painted and sent home next week.

What Parents & Carers Need to Know about

A video-sharing platform designed as an alternative to YouTube, Rumble is the epitome of a 'slow burner' in digital circles: it was initially launched in 2013, but it's only in the last two or three years that it's begun to gain serious traction. Much of Rumble's recent growth has stemmed from its association with Truth Social, the platform founded by former US President Donald Trump. Rumble's content frequently reflects some intense political viewpoints; this can often affect the way it approaches topics and has occasionally caused the platform to venture into controversial territory.

Advice for Parents & Carers

TALK ABOUT POLITICS

Rumble does have a team of moderators, but the nature of the platform means that some permitted content is likely to be controversial and highly subjective. That possibility might make many parents uncomfortable – but if your child does view (or hear about) something provocative on Rumble, it can still provide a useful opportunity to discuss politics at home in a safe, relaxed environment.

CHECK UP REGULARLY

00 Like any video-sharing platform, there's a chance that Rumble might suggest inappropriate content for your child. There may be an algorithm issue – or it could be that the recommendations are based on videos they've previously viewed. If your child uses Rumble, you might consider a chat with them about which accounts they follow and what type of content is suitable for their age.

Safety

No video-sharing platform is totally free from potentially harmful content, of course – but the number of prominent account holders on Rumble whose output has previously been banned from similar services is certainly a cause for concern. If your child is becoming interested in influencer culture or politics specifically, you could perhaps research more family-friendly platforms together.

DISCUSS IMPARTIALITY

RESEARCH ALTERNATIVES

Many prominent Rumble accounts wear their political leanings firmly on their sleeves. As a result, it can be tricky for impressionable young people to appreciate both sides of any given debate. If your child is old enough to use Rumble, you may feel that a discussion of some things they ve seen might be prudent – if so, be prepared from some complex (and possibly lengthy) conversations!

Thursday 13th July 2:45pm - 3:30pm

Parents and carers (Reception to Year 6) are invited in to class to share the best bits of this years learning. A big thank you to those who came to the PTFA summer fete. We hope you enjoyed it.

We'd also really like to find out why so many families didn't come, in the hope that we can make next year's fete more of a success. We're keen for the fete to be a fun social event for everyone, whilst also helping us to raise money so we can enhance pupils' learning and school experience.

If you didn't come, please consider spending a minute to fill out this survey:
